

PhD Lecture Series in Selected Topics

Post-Keynesian, institutionalist, feminist and Marxian political economy

2017 Session

The Greenwich Political Economy Research Centre and Kingston University are jointly organizing a series of lectures in advanced macroeconomics based on a political economy approach combining institutionalist, feminist, Keynesian and Marxist traditions. The lecture series builds on the research expertise of staff in political economy at both universities. The lecture series is designed primarily for the two institutes' PhD students; however we welcome PhD or Masters students from other universities who wish to explore more advanced topics.

- The lectures assume knowledge of core concepts in macroeconomics at Masters level.
- Each lecture day there will be two lectures on a common theme. A brief description of each lecture and an indicative reading list can be found in the link to each lecture below.
- The location of the lectures alternates between the two universities.
- Attendance is free and there is no pre-registration requirement.
